

International Festivals & Events Association

“i.e.: the business of international events” magazine Reuse Guidelines

If you would like to re-use/re-print or re-post your article or column for promotional or educational purposes, please adhere to the following guidelines:

- When printing or posting your article online (websites or social media), please provide the following text with your article:
 - “As published in the International Festivals & Events Association’s “i.e.: the business of international events” quarterly magazine. The premiere association supporting and enabling festivals and events worldwide. For more information on the IFEA, go to: www.ifea.com.”
 - If posting your article online, please include the IFEA’s logo next to your article. Please contact nia@ifea.com to obtain the logo.
- If providing your article as a handout or referencing it – please be sure to note that it was published in the International Festivals & Events Association’s “i.e.: the business of international events” quarterly magazine and which issue it was published in.
- If you do chose to re-use, re-print or re-post your article at anytime, please let Nia Hovde know where and when it was used, and for what purpose (or what audience) it was used for.
- Content Release & Usage: By submitting an article/content, photos or images to be published in “i.e.: the business of international events” magazine, you automatically grant the IFEA the right to use any materials and/or photos for editorial, analytical, promotional or any other purpose without additional compensation or permission. Your submission of the article/photo/image to be published is acknowledgement of these terms.

If you have questions on any of the above guidelines, please contact: Nia Hovde, Director of Marketing at +1-208-433-0950 ext: 3 or nia@ifea.com.