

Contents

Fall 2007 | VOL/1 | NO/2

13 | Overcoming Parking Lot Problems

From lighting and cameras to lighting and patrols, venue solutions for effective security are all over the lot. By Mark Henricks

18 | Touch and Go

Given the increasingly thorny legal issues surrounding pat-downs, your venue should take a serious look at these nine recommended procedures. By Turner D. Madden

24 | On Command

An evacuation plan can help protect your venue and attendees — assuming you're regularly evaluating it and keeping it current. By Matt Bolch

30 | Beyond Borders

Ensuring safety inside a defined venue is one thing. But how do you control security at live events with massive crowds and porous borders? By Brittany Glenn

PERSPECTIVE

34 | Whose Job Is it Anyway?

Risk prevention — it isn't just for managers anymore.

By Joe DesPlaines

36 | It's a Dirty Job

Learn how to protect your staff from overlooked contamination.

By Allen F. Weitzel

IN EVERY ISSUE

04 | Command Center At Your Command

06 | This Way In

>> The Mayhem Map >> By the Numbers >> FEMA Launches Pilot for Warning System >> Effective Alcohol Management

08 | Infrastructure The Changing Face of IDs

A new approach to ID cards could affect how you handle hiring, employee access, rescue worker identification and more.

10 | Risk Management Helping the Disabled in an Emergency

Is your venue prepared to handle an emergency involving people with disabilities?

38 | Lessons Learned

Gary Goodman of the South Carolina State Fair on keeping out gang members.

40 | This Way Out

Parting thoughts, final words and conclusive data.

