

Gold Medal Performance by IFEA Member, Dynamic Displays

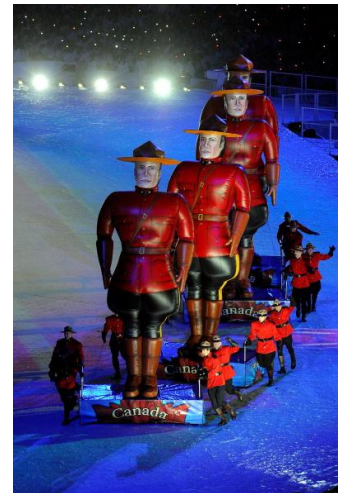

Dynamic Displays, a member organization of the International Festivals & Events Association, was proud to contribute to the Closing Ceremonies of the 2010 Vancouver Winter Olympic Games. The Detroit-based company produced 38 giant props for use in the ceremonies, including six giant inflatable beavers, four flying helium moose, sixteen inflatable Mounties, and twelve giant table-hockey players.

Steve Thomson, president of Dynamic Displays, was on site in Vancouver for three weeks prior to the Closing Ceremonies helping get the props ready for the show. “We’re grateful to have been a part of such an incredible event,” says Steve, “and extremely proud of the exceptional job done by the team at Dynamic Displays.”

Over the past 48 years, Dynamic Displays has become one of the world’s premier providers of inflatable props for parades, amusement parks, stage sets and motion pictures. The Dynamic team has contributed to a variety of creative global projects through the years, including three Olympic Games, World Cup France, six Super bowls, and the MLB All-Star Game.
