Practical Advice for Promoting Events Online

Doug Rasch, Director of Online Marketing
Edgeworks Group
Irvine, CA

CFEE Elective Credit:

Current Industry Issues & Trends

Practical advice for promoting Events online drawn directly from recent relevant marketing campaigns, including a review of tools, approaches and tactics based on real world results. We'll also take a peak forward; it's a new year and that means New Social Media, Changes at Google, Ongoing Mobile Device Adoption, Evolving Online Behavior, and advancing technology. The rapid rate of change in the digital space can be disconcerting, but this webinar with drill down through the noise, to the key trends and new opportunities that will help you grow attendance in 2013.

Doug Rasch, a decorated US Marine, found that the combination of his academic background in Math, and an early career in managing live theater, provided the odd mix of skills needed in web Marketing. Doug, with professional advertising certifications from Google and Bing, spent five years marketing events and live theater in Southern California, before moving to Edgeworks Group in 2008, where he is currently the Director of Online Marketing. Doug regularly speaks at webinars and conferences across the country, sharing his experiences with SEO, Online Advertising, Social Media Management, Mobile Marketing, Facebook App development, and Website Usability Tracking & Analysis.

Making Sure the Party is Safe – New Regulations for Special Events in the City of Ottawa

Delores MacAdam,
Manager of Licensing
Programs and Special Events

City of Ottawa Events Central Branch
Ottawa, ON, Canada
Valerie Bietlot, City Solicitor
Ottawa, ON, Canada

CFEE Elective Credit: Leadership/Management Skills

By the end of the 1st Quarter of 2013, the City of Ottawa, Ontario, Canada will have confirmed their new Special Events By-Law creating a common framework within which Events Managers, City Event Staff, City Services (such as Public Works and Emergency Services) as well as citizens, can function successfully. In so doing, the By-Law provides the mechanisms to stimulate economic prosperity, create financial responsibility and provide service excellence as indicated in the Term of Council Priorities. Additionally, the By-Law ensures safety for the event organizers, event participants, local community and the City by requiring event organizers to prepare emergency plans and response frameworks within the proposed permit application and issuance process. This new Special Events By-Law is a unique and positive approach to events management and can be applied to cities and events around the world.

Delores MacAdam is the Manager of Licensing Programs and Special Events for the City of Ottawa Events Central Branch (Special Events and Corporate Volunteer Program). She is involved in all phases of design, planning, execution and evolution of over 250 local, national and international events per year. With 30 years of experience in community planning and development at the municipal and provincial level, she is responsible for engaging political leaders, local business & community groups, professional entertainment and sporting entities, as well as knitting together dozens of local and worldwide events for celebration. For the past year, she has worked with consultants from various North American cities to develop a software program for events which will be launched February 1st, 2012. She will also be bringing to the City of Ottawa Council a Special Events By-law that has been designed to address the needs of government (compliance) and event organizers in terms of process, transparency and fairness.

The Role of the Board – Inside and Outside of the Board Room

Mitch Dorger, Principal
Dorger Consulting
Pasadena, CA

CFEE Elective Credit:

Leadership/Management Skills

Board members are extremely dedicated people that give countless hours to their organizations. But in many cases board members, especially new board members, suffer because they were never given a solid introduction to their responsibilities on the board. This session will examine the responsibilities of board members both inside the board room and outside the board. Both of these are important and many board members, even experienced ones, do not understand that their responsibilities to the organization extend beyond the board room door. This session will be valuable for senior organizational staff members as well as senior members of the board including board chairs and committee chairs.

Mitch Dorger brings more than 40 years of work experience to his consulting practice including 20 years as a chief executive officer, most recently with the Pasadena Tournament of Roses. His experience as a CEO was consistently characterized by successful performance improvement programs and high employee morale and achievement. He believes the fundamental goal of leadership is to inspire teamwork and the spirit of continuous improvement. He has recent expertise in the world of non-profit organizations and is well versed in corporate governance, volunteer management, financial planning and management, government relations, and large event management. As a public speaker he has lectured on non-profit organizational management, strategic planning, change management and leadership. He has also served as a keynote speaker for four different festival and event association conventions.

Branding For Your Festival and Event

Ira Rosen, CFEE
President & CEO
Entertainment On Location
Point Pleasant, NJ

CFEE Elective Credit:
Creativity & Innovation

Building a brand and brand recognition is just as important for an event as it is for a consumer product. Learn some practical tips for developing a brand strategy and delivering it to your customers. Make your event the best on your block; buy early, buy often!

Ira Rosen has over 30 years of experience in the special event production field. Since founding EOL in 1989, he has worked with festivals, events, advertising agencies, governments and other clients around the world. Prior to starting EOL, Ira was an executive with Radio City Music Hall Productions, Inc. for over seven years where he was responsible for all of the company's procurement and acted as a technical director for many major special events. Ira has spoken and written extensively on many industry topics including tourism and the festival industry, corporate sponsorship, and the operational management of special events.

Webinars On Demand

Looking for a different webinar topic – don't forget to check out our Webinars OnDemand – previously recorded webinars that are now available for download. For a complete list of available Webinars On Demand, just go to the IFEA Bookstore & Resource Center.

How Webinars Work

IFEA Webinars are Website-enabled seminars that function much like a teleconference. They use your computer's Website browser to display presentation materials and other applications important to the Webinar topic, with the audio portion of the presentation provided either through your computer speakers or over the phone.

Once your registration has been submitted, you will receive an email from the IFEA confirming that you have been registered for the Webinar. The day before the scheduled Webinar, you will receive an email with specific instructions on how to log in for the Webinar. You will receive this email again, the day of the Webinar.

Once this information has been received, joining a Webinar is as easy as 1, 2, 3!

- 1. Log In To The Webinar: To start the Webinar, log in to the specific website address that you received for the Webinar and connect to the presentation. Webinars can be viewed on virtually any computer with a high-speed internet connection.
- 2. Listening To The Webinar: After you've logged in and gained access to the Website, you have two options to listen to the audio portion. You can either dial the telephone number provided to hear the webinar via a conference call, or if you have computer speakers, you may listen via your computer speakers. (The phone number provided will not be an 800 number, so all costs for the call will be incurred by the registrant.)

- 3. Sit Back and Learn: Once you are logged in, all you need to do is sit back and learn! It's just like any other seminar, except you're sitting comfortably at your own desk! Throughout the webinar, you are able to ask questions to the presenter using the online Question/Answer messaging system that is part of the Webinar screen. The Webinar Organizer will view your question and present it to the speaker at the end of the presentation.

Along with the Webinar itself, all registered attendees will receive a copy of the presentation used for the webinar prior to the webinar start time in addition to the recorded copy of the webinar after the webinar presentation.
